

2009 ended with accolades for Football United

2009 ended with accolades for Football United, as the Program team was honoured with two awards from the University of New South Wales:

Football United Founder and Director Anne Bunde-Birouste was given the UNSW Faculty of Medicine “Community Engagement Award 2009” in November 2009.

Anne Bunde-Birouste receiving award from Professor Peter Smith, Dean, Faculty of Medicine

The UNSW research team was recipient of the 2009 UNSW Staff Excellence Award in the category of Excellence in Community Engagement (Groups).

UNSW research team with President and Vice-Chancellor Professor Fred Hilmer

Football United Founder and Director Anne Bunde-Birouste expressed the delight of the entire team in her thank you speech, “These awards mean more than they may appear on the surface; they honour all of the volunteers who put in thousands of hours to build and run the program. And importantly they reflect UNSW’s recognition and support of the important role that universities can play in building equitable and just societies, and their recognition that academic excellence can be expressed in a variety of ways.”